

I oppose loosening the rules designed to promote and protect diversity of media ownership. These rules were adopted to ensure that the public would receive a diverse range of viewpoints from the media, and not simply the opinions of a handful of media conglomerates.

Broadcast TV is still an important source of information for many people. Although print media and the Internet are available, broadcast TV is in our homes. It is easy for people to view broadcast TV as an accurate and dependable source of information. The American people trust that the information they can get on TV is accurate, honest, non-biased. The FCC needs to promote diversity among media companies. We are entitled to have media that is representative of the American people, not representative of the corporate view of America. Please protect our right to a diverse broadcast system.
